

Beth Everage
POLICY DIRECTOR

Beth is Policy Director at HBW Resources where she provides support for the development of policy positions, stakeholder communications and marketing for the organization. Beth has eight years of experience as Manager, Energy & Environmental Policy at the Greater Houston Partnership where she led advocacy and education efforts aimed at communicating complex energy and environmental issues to a broad range of stakeholders in order to build industry partnerships and coalitions with regional entities.

Beth's prior professional experience includes conducting environmental impact studies and air quality analyses for highway projects and management of a successful grant program aimed at regional mobile source emission reductions. Beth has a B.S. in Bioenvironmental Sciences and an M.Ag. in Natural Resources Development from Texas A&M University.
